

Summer eiNetwork Membership Offers

*“ei provides the ideal stimulus for those who want to think afresh.”
Octavius Black, Global Managing Director, The Mind Gym*

Editorial Intelligence connects people and ideas to keep them smart and up to speed in today's overloaded world through our eiNetwork Club. We are based in London where a suite of monthly suppers and salons take place, but we also organise pop-up events in Europe through Networking Nations, our post-Brexit forum focusing on digital innovation, and we spend each Autumn in Oxford for our flagship conference Names Not Numbers. In addition we run the prestigious UK Comment Awards and Comment Conference which our network members can attend.

Highlights of membership:

- * World Class speakers from Media, Politics, Business, Digital, Academia.
- * Intimate gatherings where you make meaningful connections.
- * 1:1 session to plan and appraise your networks and 'Knowledge Dashboard'
- * Exclusive offers from our Club partners including the LIBRARY and The Office Group

Editorial Intelligence Forthcoming Events: Speakers and Dates

Editorial Intelligence will run over fifty events in 2017 eiNetwork Club monthly supper salons are one of our most popular membership features. Chaired by eiAmbassadors it is a chance for the members to be the speakers and share their thoughts and opinions over delicious food and drink. Membership of the club - for an individual or an organisation to share with others - allows members to attend up to ten events a year across the different brands we curate under:

Networking Nations, our post-Brexit forum with a focus on policy and business in London and innovation and digital issues in Europe; Early Risers, our breakfast ideas gatherings with an emphasis on bringing together our rising stars under 40 into a room with members more established in their careers; Comment Conference and Awards, which celebrate the best of comment, opinion and journalism in the UK; and Names Not Numbers, our flagship symposium which culminates in a two-day 'experiential residential' in Oxford each September.

Our partners host our events with us and provide some member benefits as well as an unrivalled series of spaces in which people and ideas we curate can be connected in style, stimulation and comfort: Corinthia London, Wellcome Trust, British Library, Waddesdon Manor, The Office Group, LIBRARY. We have book and publication partnerships with Harvard Business Review and Bloomsbury, adding an interesting read into the hands of our members when we see them.

HOW TO ATTEND

If you are a member of the eiNetwork Club, you know what to do: Let laura@editorialintelligence.com know which events you want to reserve your place at. We will also send reminders in your regular club newsletter: Venues and timings advised on booking.

And if you are not (yet) a member of the eiNetwork club and would like to find out how to join, and to attend a trial Early Risers breakfast, please contact karen@editorialintelligence.com to find out more. Or you can download the annual membership form here:

"The Near Distance"

See www.namesnotnumbers.com for background and eiDigests for updates.

For many NNN Autumn 'Experiential Residential' is the jewel in the crown of ei's approach to knowledge networking and it is for people who want a rather special experience.

The NNN Oxford programme continues on the topic of 'The Near Distance' which is suitable given we do indeed travel a short distance, between London and Oxford and Oxford and Waddesdon Manor, Buckinghamshire. We have the great fortune to be hosted in exclusive and private surroundings over two days of walks, talks, debates, polemics, and fine dining. Plus, of course, the famous NNN coach journey! Guests will be sitting in the chapel at Brasenose College, in Convocation House at The Bodleian Library; dining at Somerville College; and having an exclusive tour of Waddesdon Manor when it is closed to the public before concluding at The Rothschild Archive on 'Windmill Hill'.

Speakers confirmed subject to any last minute diary adjustments include:

Jonny Bealby, Explorer and founder of Wild Frontiers; Henry Chevallier Guild, food and drink expert and part of family-firm Aspall; Stella Duffy, playwright and arts convenor; Georgina Goodwin of Monocle Radio as MC; Helen Lederer, comedian and writer; John Lloyd, Founder of QI, Spitting Image and more, In Conversation with ei Chairman and global "Live Aid" impresario, Harvey Goldsmith; Lucy Musgrave, urbanism expert and founder of public realm agency Publica; William Sieghart running his 'poetry pharmacy'; Richard Ovenden, Chief Librarian, Baroness Royall, Principal of Somerville; University of Oxford; Martin Vander Weyer, Business Columnist, The Spectator, and secret actor; Stephanie Theobald, writer and journalist on female sexuality; Sir Simon Wessley, President, Royal College of Psychiatrists; We are also thrilled to have Khadije Saye, a young artist who has her first showing of work at the Venice Biennale in 2017, join us at NNN in September.
